Crime And Punishment In South Africa

Crime and Punishment in South Africa is founded on the existence of the accepted common law crimes, South African statutory crimes, and criminal case law. The Criminal Procedure Act of 1977 covers an extensive field that regulates the criminal procedure in the country. Due to the high crime rate, the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1997 and its successor, the Criminal Law Amendment Act of 2008, were adopted to provide for statutory prescribed minimum sentences for certain serious crimes. The ...
